FULL-STACK DEVELOPER

EXPERIENCE

2021- Current

Marketing Coordinator / Design Specialist

My career at Xibitz has been exhilarating. I am the independent lead in our Marketing department. My current role expectations include, but are not limited to; proposal design and creation, brand development, social media management, skilled photography, leading multi-department projects, department organization, budget management, search engine optimization, digital marketing strategy, content creation, logo/website design, PR initiatives, competitor research, and recruitment. I report directly to the CEO of my company. The proposals I design and copywrite are sent to some of the top design firms in the nation, including but not limited to Perkins&Will and HOK.

2021- Current

Full-Stack Developer

I began my coding career at Michigan State University in June 2022. The full-stack course was intensive and challenged my ability to problem solve quickly, manage my time effectively, and continuously apply concepts that I was learning into assignments and projects. Throughout the course I felt overwhelmed with the amount of material I was expected to learn and a very fast pace. It was not until I finished my projects that I was able to reflect on everything that I was able to learn and retain in my time at MSU. Attending this course proved to myself just how much pressure, stress and knowledge I could maintain without falling behind or becoming resistant. I am very grateful for my professors, teaching-assistants and my peers for the collaborative and supportive environment they consistently provided me for learning. I hope to have a career that encompasses these values so that I am able to thrive at my full potential.
